JOINT RULES OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE.

1. When a message shall be sent from the Senate to the House of Representatives, it shall be announced at the door of the House by the Doorkeeper, and shall be respectfully communicated to the Chair by the person by whom it may be sent.

2. The same ceremony shall be observed when messages shall be sent from the House of Representatives to the Senate.

Messages shall be sent by such persons as a sense of propriety in each House may determine to be proper.

4. In every case of disagreement between the two Houses, if either House request a conference, and appoint a committee for that purpose, the other House shall appoint a committee to confer therewith upon the subject of their disagreement. But no subject matter shall be included in any conference committee report on an appropriation bill unless such subject matter directly relates to matters of difference between the Houses and has been specifically referred to the Conference Committee. Said committee shall meet at a convenient time to be agreed upon by their chairman, and, having conferred freely, each shall report to its respective House the result of their conference. In case of an agreement the report shall be first made, with the papers referred accompanying it, to the disagreeing House, and there acted upon. And no appropriation bill shall be passed and no report of any Conference Committee on an appropriation bill shall be considered unless the bill or report has been printed in its final form and placed on the desks of the members at least three legislative days prior to the final passage of the bill or the consideration of the report. And such action shall be immediately reported by the Clerk to the Other House, the papers referred accompanying the message. In case of disagreement, the papers shall remain with the House which referred them. The agreeing report of a conference committee shall be made, read and signed in duplicate by all members of the committee, or by a majority of those of each House, one of the duplicates being retained by the committee of each House. Should either House disagree to the report of the committee, such House shall appoint a second committee and request a second conference, which shall be acceded to by the other House before adhering. The motion for a committee of conference, and the report of such committee, shall be in order at any time. When both Houses shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill or resolution is lost.

5. While bills are on their passage between the two Houses they shall be accompanied by a message signed by the Secretary or Clerk (as the case may be) respectively.

6. After a bill has passed both Houses, it shall be transcribed and typed before it is presented to the Governor.

7. When bills are transcribed and typed, they shall be examined by a joint committee, which shall consist of five members, two from the Senate and three from the House, to be appointed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House respectively. The clerk of the Committee on Enrolling, Transcribing and Typing of Bills of the respective Houses shall act as clerk of the committee whenever their services are required. Said committee shall carefully compare the transcribed and typed bills with the engrossed bills, so passed by both Houses, correct any errors which may be discovered in the enrolled bills, and make their report forthwith to their respective Houses; the Secretary or Clerk having previously certified on the margin of the roll in which House it originated.

8. After examination and report, each bill shall be signed in the respective Houses, by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and by the President of the Senate.

9. After a bill shall have been signed by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, it shall be presented by said Joint Committee to the Governor for his approval. The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor to each House, which time shall be carefully entered on the Journals of each House.

10. All Resolutions and memorials which are to be presented to the Governor shall be previously enrolled, examined, signed and presented to the Joint Committee, reported, and entry made thereof, as provided in case of bills.

11. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed one House is rejected in the other, information thereof shall be given to the House in which the same shall have passed.

12. When the consideration of any bill, memorial, or resolution, which has originated in one House shall be postponed in the other to a day so distant that it shall not be taken up again by the present session, the House in which such bill, memorial or resolution shall have originated shall be forthwith informed of such postponement.

13. When a bill, memorial or resolution which has passed one House is rejected in the other, it shall not again be introduced during the same session, except in the House so rejecting, and after three days' notice and leave of that House.

14. Each House shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

15. While the two Houses are acting together upon elections, or on any other matter, the Speaker shall preside, and all questions of order shall be decided by him, subject to an appeal to both Houses, as though but one body was in session. A call of members of either House may be had in joint meeting by order of the House in which the call is desired, and to constitute a quorum of the joint assembly, a majority of all the members elected to both Houses shall be present and voting.

16. Motions to postpone or adjourn shall be decided by a joint vote of both Houses, and yeas and nays upon such motions, if required, shall be entered upon the Journals of both Houses.

17. Upon questions arising requiring the separate decision of either House, the Senate shall withdraw until the decision is made: Provided, that questions upon motions for a call of either House shall not come within the provisions of this rule.

18. Each House shall have the liberty of ordering the printing of bills, messages and reports without the consent of the other.

19. Whenever any message, bill, report or document shall be ordered to be printed by the Senate or House, for the use of both Houses, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate or Clerk of the House (as the case may be) immediately to report the fact of the passage of such order to the other branch of the General Assembly, together with the number so ordered to be printed in case the same shall exceed 300.

20. The Clerk of the House shall at the time of delivery, receive a receipt from the Secretary of the Senate for all messages transmitted from the House to the Senate and the Secretary of the Senate shall, at the time of delivery, receive a receipt from the Clerk of the House for all messages transmitted from the Senate to the House.

15. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject other than bills, and different committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order: The Committee of the Whole House, a Standing Committee or a Select Committee.

16. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Enrolling, Transcribing and Typing of Bills to examine all bills, correct any mistakes therein and report the bills to the House forthwith; and it shall be in order for it to report at any time.

17. When any bill is about to be considered by a committee the introducer of the bill shall be notified of the time and place where such bills shall be considered by such committee.

17½. No committee shall sit during sessions of the House, without consent of the House.

BILLS.

18. When the roll shall be called for the first introduction of bills, each member may introduce three bills. And should the call be suspended by adjournment or otherwise, the calling of the roll shall be taken up when that order of business is reached, at the point at which it was discontinued, and this order shall be observed until the roll call shall be alphabetically completed. No bill shall be introduced after April 14th, except upon each Tuesday and except by Standing Committees of the House.

19. The Clerk shall indorse on every bill the number thereof, the name of the member introducing it, the date of the introduction, and the several orders taken thereon; and when printed, said several indorsements shall be printed at the head of the bill.

20. When a bill is introduced it shall be read by its title, ordered printed and referred to the proper committee for consideration. In the case of a bill which amends a prior statute, the author of the bill shall indicate the particular changes in the following manner:

(1) New words and figures in the section amended to be underscored.

(2) Words and figures in the section amended which are to be omitted or superseded by new words and figures to be shown crossed with a line.

No bill shall be printed unless the provisions of this rule have been complied with. Both House bills and Senate bills in the House shall be printed with the new words and figures in italics and omitted or superseded words and figures enclosed in brackets.

Omitted and superseded words and figures crossed with a line as provided in clause 2 of this rule, not being a part of the bill to be enacted shall not be included in the engrossed copy of the bill but shall be omitted entirely.

21. The Clerk shall, as soon as any bill is printed, place the same in the postoffice boxes of the members; and printed bills shall be furnished to others than public officers and members of the General Assembly and the Press only on the written order of the Speaker, the President and the President pro tem. of the Senate, and members of the General Assembly.

22. Amendments to bills except amendments striking out an emergency provision may be offered at the conclusion of the second reading and shall be printed when adopted, and shall be deposited in the postoffice boxes of the members one day before such amended bill shall be read the third time.

23. After the second reading of the bill, and amendments, if any, the Speaker shall state the bill is ready to be ordered transcribed and typed for a third reading.

24. No subject matter shall be included in any Conference Committee report on an appropriation bill unless such subject matter directly relates to matters of difference between the House and has been specifically referred to the Conference Committee. No appropriation bill shall be passed and no report of any Conference Committee on an appropriation bill shall be considered unless the bill or report has been printed in its final form and placed on the desks of the members at least three legislative days prior to the final passage of the bill or the consideration of the report.

25. The vote on the full passage of all bills shall be by yeas and nays, upon each bill separately, and shall be entered upon the Journal, and when a bill shall fail to receive a constitutional majority upon its passage, the Speaker shall declare that the bill has failed to pass.

26. When an emergency is expressed in the preamble or body of an Act, as a reason why such Act should take effect prior to the first day of July next after its passage, and when such an Act contains a clause or proviso fixing such time prior to the first day of July, the question shall be, "Shall the bill pass?" and if decided affirmatively by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the House, then the bills shall be deemed passed; and, if, upon such vote a majority of said members elected, but less than two-thirds thereof, vote affirmatively on said question, then the vote on said bill shall be deemed reconsidered, and the bill subject to amendment by striking out such part thereof as expresses an emergency and the time of taking effect, and then said bill, shall be under consideration upon its third reading, with the emergency clause and time of taking effect stricken out: Provided, however, that such amendment, striking out the emergency clause shall be printed before said bill is considered upon third reading.

27. Every bill shall be read at large on three different days.

28. When a bill passes it shall be certified by the Clerk, who, at the foot thereof, shall note the day it passes.

29. Appropriations for the offices of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General, Treasurer, Auditor of Public Accounts and Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be made by separate bills for each office.

REFERENCES.

30. Appropriation bills which contain provisions relating to nothing else than the appropriation, and apportionment bills, which contain provisions relating to nothing else than the apportionment, shall be in order in preference to any other bills unless otherwise ordered. All bills for appropriations of money from the State treasury, or providing for the expenditure of money when referred to other committees and by them reported back to the House with favorable recommendations, shall be referred to the Committee on Appropriations for its consideration before being finally acted upon by the House.

The Speaker may reserve any bill or resolution introduced of general State importance, or in case of emergency, on the Speaker's table and lay the same before the House; after the same has been printed, and with the consent of the House the same may be considered as in Committee of the Whole House, in the order in which such measures may be entered; otherwise, or upon the failure of the House to consent to such reference, the bill or resolution shall be referred to its appropriate committee; provided, however, that no bill or resolution may be considered in the Committee of the Whole House, until two days after the same shall have been printed and placed in the postoffice boxes of the members.

31. All questions relating to the priority of business to be acted upon, not otherwise provided for in these rules, shall be decided by the Speaker without debate.

32. When a question has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for a member voting on the prevailing side to move for a reconsideration thereof, or give notice that he will make such a motion within the time prescribed by these rules, for which time he shall control the motion. But no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after a bill, resolution, message, report, amendment or motion, upon which the vote was taken, shall have gone out of the possession of the House, nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order unless within the next day of actual session of the House: Provided, that should the member giving notice of a motion to reconsider, not make such motion within the time prescribed by the rule, any other member voting with the majority, may make such motion, within the next succeeding legislative day. Such motion shall take precedence to all other questions, except a motion to adjourn. And, provided, further, that when a bill has passed the House it shall require a constitutional majority to reconsider the vote by which the same was passed: And, provided, also, when a motion to reconsider the vote by which a bill is passed is made, or a notice is given that such motion will be made within three days of the last legislative day of the session, it will then be in order for any member to move that such motion or notice of motion may be taken up and disposed of.

PRACTICE.

33. Upon the demand of five members which may be oral or in writing and made before or after a viva voce vote, or before or after a division, the yeas and nays shall be taken on any question, and entered upon the Journal. Such demand shall be made before proceeding to other business.

34. Upon a call of the House for the yeas and nays on any question the names of the members shall be called in alphabetical order.

35. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have the precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

36. No person shall visit or remain at the Clerk's desk, while the yeas and nays are being called, and in the performance of their duties all clerks of the House shall be under the supervision and control of the Speaker.

37. A motion for commitment, until it shall be decided, shall preclude all amendments to the main question.

38. A motion to lay any particular proposition on the table shall apply to that particular proposition only.

39. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of an amendment.

40. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member desires it.

41. When a motion is made, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or if it be in writing, it shall be read aloud by the Clerk before debate thereon.

42. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or read by the Clerk it shall be considered in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment, by leave of the House.

43. Any member may call for a division of the question, when divisible, but a motion to strike out and insert shall be indivisible.

44. Whenever any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker," and confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personality, and no motion shall be considered in order unless made from the seat occupied by the member.

45. When two or more members arise at once the Speaker shall name the member who is to speak first.

46. All questions, except as provided in rules 47 and 53, whether in the Committee of the Whole or in the House, shall be disposed of in the order in which they are moved, except that in filling up blanks the largest sum and the most remote day shall be the first put.

47. The rules of the House shall be observed in all committees as far as may be applicable.

48. When the Committee reports a substitute for an original bill, with the recommendation that the substitute pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute a first time at once and order it printed.

49. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House may be presented by any member, who shall state briefly to the House the contents thereof, which may be received, read and referred on the same day.

50. No member shall speak longer than thirty minutes at one time, nor more than once on the same question, except by leave of the House; but the member who introduced a measure shall, in all cases, have the right to close the debate, and this right shall not be denied him even after the previous question has been ordered, although he may have spoken once on the same subject; Provided, the member so speaking shall not be allowed more time in all than is permitted by the rules of the House to other members. No member shall speak longer than five minutes in explaining his vote on any roll call.

51. While the Speaker is putting a question or addressing the House, or when a member is speaking no person shall walk out of or across the room, or pass between the member speaking and the Chair, or entertain private discourse.

52. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order.

53. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but—

To fix the time to which to adjourn.

To adjourn.

A call of the House.

To lay on the table.

The previous question.

To commit.

To postpone to a day certain.

To postpone to a day indefinite.

To amend.

Which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are named; and no motion—

To postpone to a day certain.

To commit or

To postpone indefinitely.

Being decided, again shall be allowed on the same day, or at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

Provided, that when a call of the House, or a roll call upon any bill, resolution or motion, shall disclose the fact that there is not a quorum present, then the following shall be the order of business—

A motion: To produce a quorum by compelling the attendance of absent members.

To fix the time to which to adjourn.

To adjourn.

A motion for a call of the House.

54. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Roberts' Rules of Order, shall govern the House in all cases in which they are applicable and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House, or the joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.

55. If a question be lost by adjournment of the House, and revived on the succeeding day, no member who has spoken on the preceding day shall be permitted to speak again on the same question without leave.

56. Any two members shall have the liberty to dissent from, and protest, in respectful language, against any act or resolution which they shall think injurious to the public or any individual, and have the reasons of their dissent entered upon the Journal.

57. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, viz: "As many as are of the opinion that" (as the case may be) "say 'Aye'" and, after the affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion say, 'No'." If the Speaker doubts, or if a division be called for, the House shall divide; those in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative.

58. In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave his chair, and a chairman to preside in the committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

ADJOURNMENT.

59. The hour at which every motion to adjourn is made shall be entered on the Journal.

Ten o'clock in the morning shall be the standing hour to which the House shall adjourn unless otherwise ordered by a majority vote.

60. A motion to adjourn shall be decided without debate and not be subject to amendment.

61. No rule shall be suspended without the vote on roll call or division of seventy-seven members or of two-thirds of the members present, nor shall any rule be altered or amended without one day's notice being given on the motion thereof, and the vote on roll call of two-thirds of the members present, but any amendment or alteration having the approval of the Rules Committee may be adopted on roll call or division by a majority of the members elected.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.

62. The previous question shall be put in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments or debate. When it is decided that the main question shall now be put, the main question shall be considered as still remaining under debate.

The effect of the main question's being ordered shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the House to a direct vote, first, upon all amendments reported or pending in the inverse order in which they are offered. After the motion for the previous question has prevailed, it shall not be in order to move for a call of the House unless it shall appear by yeas and nays, as taken on the main question, that no quorum is present; or to move to adjourn prior to a decision of the main question: Provided, if a motion to postpone is pending the only effect of the previous questions shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion.

63. All resolutions or petitions calling for the appointment of committees, or involving the expenditure of money, and all orders in reference to the appointed employees, or the increase of compensation of employees, or the expenditures of moneys for incidental expenses of the session shall be referred to the Appropriations Committee without debate.

64. The Clerk of the House shall, at the time of delivery, receive a receipt from the Secretary of the Senate for all messages transmitted from the House to the Senate, and shall deliver to the Secretary of the Senate a receipt for all messages transmitted from the Senate to the House at the time of delivery.
